1.0 Executive Summary

This paper is to support the 2019 City of Ryde Housing Strategy to inform the background and context of the current housing profile in Ryde. Additionally, this paper will formulate and identify key issues with the current and future housing context in the City of Ryde.

In June 2018 Council entered into an agreement with the Department of Planning and Environment to implement the accelerated local environment plan (LEP) review program. Part of the objectives of this agreement is to review and update the LEP and all other relevant local planning controls to give effect to the North District Plan (NDP). An important part of the LEP review is to prepare a Local Housing Strategy that complies with the Local Housing Strategy Guidelines and Template released by the Department of Planning and Environment on 2 October 2018.

The Greater Sydney Commission's five District Plans came into effect in March 2018 and are a guide for implementing A Metropolis of Three Cities - the Greater Sydney Region Plan at a District level. The District Plans are 20 year plans to inform local environmental plans, community strategic plans and the assessment of planning proposals. They act as a bridge between the Regional Plan and Council Strategies as they help councils to plan and deliver for growth and change, and to align their local planning strategies to deliver place-based outcomes.

The North District Plan includes the Local Government areas of Hornsby, Hunter's Hill, Ku-ring-gai, Lane Cove, Northern Beaches, Mosman, Willoughby, Ryde and North Sydney.

The North District Plan has set a dwelling numbers target for each of the Council's within it for the period 2016 – 2021. For Ryde the target is set at an additional 7,600 dwellings (page 42 NDP). Each council is to develop 6-10 year housing targets iteratively through its housing strategy.

2.0 Purpose

The purpose of the 2019 Housing Strategy is to:

- Outline the policy context
- Examine housing demand and supply
- Provide consolidated policy objectives from a number of studies
- Recommend next steps
- Provide a response and recommendations to implement the NDP objectives and actions

The Local Housing Strategy (LHS) will be Council's response to the housing component of the North District Plan over the next 10 to 20 years. The LHS is to provide the evidence for Council's response and will include consideration of demographic factors, existing housing supply and demand for additional housing, including form and density to meet the needs of the Ryde community, and will also consider local land use opportunities and constraints.

The strategy will identify any 'gaps' in the provision of housing needs in the City of Ryde. This will include an assessment of the existing and approved housing (form and location) as well as the impact that the addition of Part 3B – Low Rise Medium Density Housing Code to the State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt and Complying Development Codes) 2008, will have on the amenity of different localities within the City of Ryde Local Government Area. The LHS Strategy must also consider options for addressing these gaps and impacts on the character and amenity of various centres in the local government area and community consultation on the options prior to the formulation of recommendations for changes.

Finally, this issues paper will provide a contextual background and help to outline the future housing strategies key focuses.

3.0 Background and Context

Housing provides shelter, safety and security and is a fundamental human need. Throughout a life, community's housing needs will change. For example, younger people may move out of the family home, or older people may seek to downsize or find accommodation with better access to facilities.

Housing outcomes also affect health and well-being. When housing choices are limited people may suffer from financial stress and lack of certainty. Long term residents may have close links with the local community and not wish to relocate due to changes in circumstances. This can create challenges if the right housing and choice is not available to the local community.

The affordability of housing also has transport implications as workers on lower incomes may be required to live further away and travel to work. This can create a subsequent strain on economic strength of Ryde and the infrastructure requirement to cope with high proportions of commuters. Furthermore, integrated transport options should allow for ease of movement around the Ryde LGA. This would be particularly valuable for workers in Ryde. The 2016 census indicated that 80.5% of the workers in Ryde live outside the LGA and travel to the area for work. (economy.iD)

Supplying an appropriate range of housing choice has a positive impact on the local economic conditions. Additionally a range of workers are required to support the viability of commercial and industrial uses in the City. By providing the right mix and availability of housing this can allow for more options to residents and workers in the Ryde area.

In late 2010 the City of Ryde undertook a targeted community and stakeholder consultation to help develop an understanding of the community's needs and this helped to formulate recommendations to Ryde Local Planning Study 2010 for Ryde Local Environmental Plan 2014 (RLEP2014). This included consultation with a number of City of Ryde Advisory Committees e.g. the Ryde Heritage Advisory Committee, and a series of public information and community consultation meetings about the master plans.

The substantive review of the Ryde LEP in 2010 provided strategies that addressed:

- Housing diversity, affordability and growth,
- Compact, sustainable and well-designed centres that are supported by public transport, community facilities and services including:
 - o Gladesville
 - o Ryde
 - o Shepherds Bay
 - o Eastwood
 - o West Ryde
 - o Macquarie Park
- The employment capacity in Macquarie Park
- The Urban Services lands in West Ryde and Gladesville industrial Areas
- Protection of heritage assets
- Protection of environmentally sensitive lands and assets

The comprehensive LEP amendment was brought into effect in 2014 and is less than 5 years old. Other LEP amendments implemented are the North Ryde Station Priority Precinct and the Macquarie University Priority Precinct.

4.0 Housing statistics

The City of Ryde LGA is an area of 40 square kilometres and is located in Sydney's North Western suburbs approximately 12kms from the Sydney CBD. The City occupies the majority of the land area between the Parramatta and Lane Cove Rivers. The City of Ryde has a population of 124,497 (2016) with 48.6% being males and 51.4% being females. 29.8% of the population of Ryde are under the age of 24 and 30.9% of the population are over 50 years old.

4.1 Housing Demand/Typology

There are 46,243 dwellings in the City of Ryde and hosts an average household size of 2.61 people per dwelling. The following is a breakdown of housing typology in Ryde;

Housing Type	% in Ryde
Free Standing House (Low Density)	46.2%
Medium Density	19.9%
High Density	33.0%

Dwelling Typology is an important determinant of the City of Ryde's residential role and function. A greater concentration of higher density dwellings is likely to attract more young adults and smaller households, often renting. Larger, detached or separate dwellings are more likely to attract families and prospective families. The residential built form often reflects market opportunities or planning policy, such as building denser forms of housing around public transport nodes or employment centres.

There has been a 6.5% increase in high density dwellings in Ryde between the 2011 and 2016 census. (see table pg.7). There has also been an emerging trend regarding the total number of dwellings in the City of Ryde with an increase of 4,484 dwellings between the same periods. The largest changes in the type of dwellings found in the City of Ryde between 2011 and 2016 were:

- High density (+4,200 dwellings)
- Medium density (+155 dwellings)
- Separate house (-138 dwellings)
- Other (+72 dwellings)

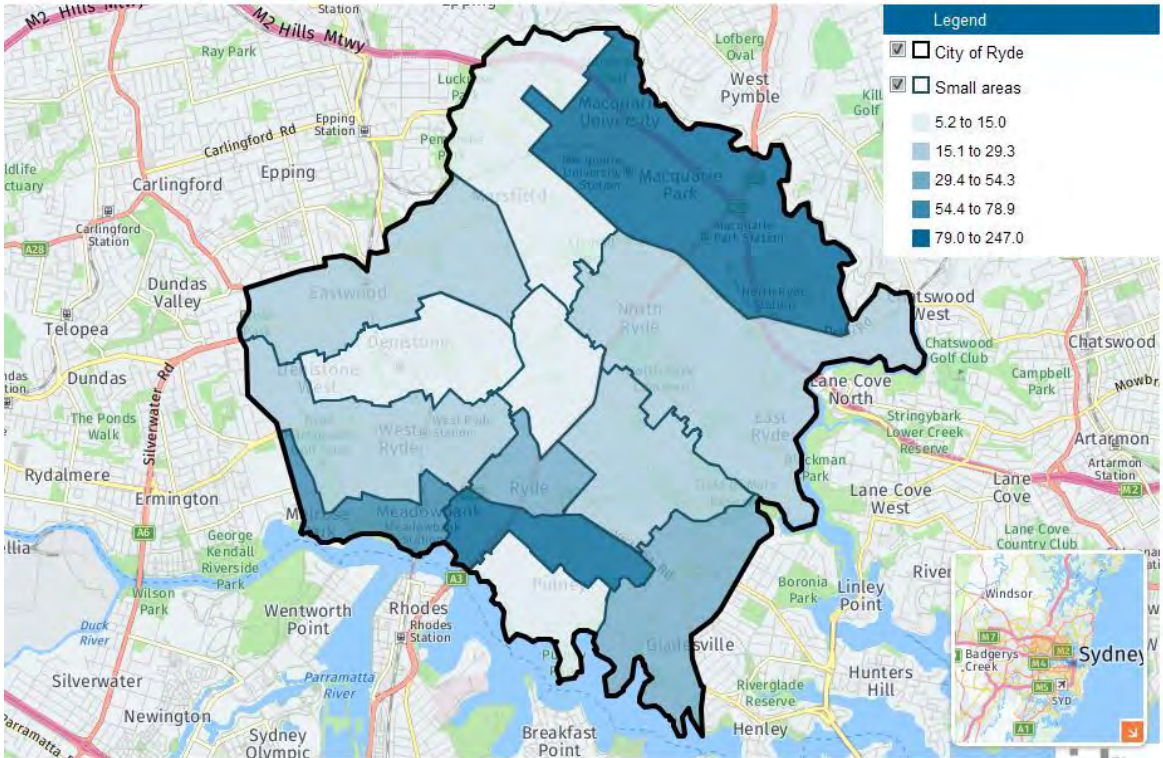

4.2 Supply

Ryde's population is set to increase by 42,612 by 2036 to 167,109 people a change of approximately 30.41%. Residential development forecasts on Forecast ID indicate that there will be an increase of 1,010 dwellings per annum to 66,855 in 2036. This equates to an increase of 20,191 (43.3%) dwellings between 2016 and 2036.

5.0 Planning Framework

5.1 State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt and Complying Development Codes) (Codes SEPP)

The Codes SEPP came into effect on 27 February 2009 and contained provisions setting out how detached dwellings/homes, extensions to dwelling houses and ancillary development such as swimming pools can be undertaken as complying developments on lots 450m² or greater. Division 1 of the Codes SEPP comprises of the General Exempt Development Code. It specifies 40 types of development of minor environmental impact that may be carried out as exempt development without the need for approval under the NSW Planning System.

The Department of Planning has advised that future amendments to the Codes SEPP will introduce other development types including single detached dwellings on lots less than 450 square metres and attached dwellings. The 450m² minimum lot size of the Housing Code indicates that consideration could be given to whether the minimum lot size within the City of Ryde should be reduced to match that of the Code. The Housing Code also contains a series of development standards including those for site coverage, setbacks, car parking, privacy and landscaping. There are discrepancies between Council's DCP dwelling houses controls and those of the Housing Code which raises the issue of potential disparate development within the low density residential areas of the City of Ryde.

On the 6 July 2018 State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt and Complying Development Codes) Amendment (Low Rise Medium Density Housing) ('Missing Middle') came into effect. Under the Amendment the following could be permitted in the R2 Low Density Residential zone throughout the City of Ryde as complying development:

- dual occupancy developments on all land with an area of 580sqm and a width of 12m
- Multi dwelling housing (terraces) on land with an area of 900sqm and a width of 18m and
- Manor houses, which are a form of residential flat building on land with an area of 600sqm and width of 15m.

Ryde LEP 2014 currently permits Multi dwelling housing in the R2 zone, therefore under the SEPP Manor houses, a form of Residential Flat Building, and Multi dwelling housing (terraces) were to be permitted in the R2 zone. Multi dwelling housing in Ryde is permitted in the R2 zone subject to compliance with controls that ensure housing choice at a density which commensurate with supporting infrastructure and is sympathetic to the character and the intent of a low density residential zone. The introduction of Manor houses and Multi dwelling housing (terraces) through the SEPP will significantly impact on the existing character of the R2 low density residential zone and undermine the existing hierarchy of residential zones in Ryde, by introducing Medium density housing typologies inconsistent with the zone objectives and supporting infrastructure.

Dual Occupancy (attached) development are currently permitted in the R2 zone under RLEP 2014 subject to site controls which ensure all such development is able to be designed in a manner sympathetic to the existing character of surrounding development. In addition these controls ensure that such development is dispersed throughout the City.

Under the SEPP the site requirements are significantly less than those permitted under RLEP 2014 resulting in a significant increase in the number of allotments eligible to be developed for Dual Occupancy in the R2 zone. This will result in Dual Occupancy development becoming a dominate form of residential development type and significantly changing the character of neighbourhoods. To ensure the low density nature of the R2 Low Density Residential zone continues into the future as part of a balanced mix of low, medium and high density housing premises, a clear differentiation between the R2 zone and higher density residential zones within the City should be considered. Therefore, the land uses types permitted in the zone could consider reviewing and amended to reflect:

- the objectives of the R2 Low Density Residential zone as specified in LEP 2014,
- Council's desire to conserve and protect into the future the character of the built environment of the R2 Low Density Residential zone and
- A hierarchy of residential zones within the City.

5.2 State Environmental Planning Policy (Affordable Rental Housing) (ARHSEPP)

On 31 July 2009 the NSW State Government released State Environmental Planning Policy (Affordable Rental Housing) 2009. This SEPP aimed to encourage home owners, social housing providers and developers to invest and create new affordable rental housing to meet the needs of both a growing population and existing residents. The Department of Planning has stated that the SEPP, in particular:

- encourages partnerships between private developers and community non-for-profit housing providers
- assist with the provision of housing close to major employment areas
- mitigates against the loss of any existing affordable housing
- supports innovative housing styles, including granny flats and new generation boarding houses; and
- delivers good urban design outcomes.

Affordable housing is defined as housing for;

- very low income households,
- low income households or
- moderate income households

The SEPP includes incentive provisions which seek to encourage a range of affordable accommodation types to meet different needs:

- Infill housing (dual occupancies, villas and residential flats)
- Secondary dwellings (granny flats)
- Boarding houses
- Supportive accommodation. (An existing residential flat buildings or boarding house used for a person who needs on-site support services.)
- Residential flat buildings built by housing providers, public authorities and joint ventures
- Residential development by the Land and Housing Corporation (Department of Housing)
- Group homes

Since the introduction of this SEPP there has been keen interest in building new granny flats and infill housing, but little interest to date in the other forms of affordable rental development. The Department of Planning is monitoring the impact of the SEPP across Sydney but no figures are yet available.

5.3 State Environmental Planning Policy No 70 - Affordable Housing (Revised Schemes) (SEPP 70)

State Environmental Planning Policy 70 (SEPP 70) - Affordable Housing identifies those Council areas where a need for affordable housing has been identified, the policy;

- a) Identifies that there is a need for affordable housing in the local government areas identified, and
- b) Describes the kinds of households for which affordable housing may be provided, and
- c) Makes a requirement with respect to the imposition of conditions relating to the provision of affordable housing.

Section 7.32(1) of the EP&A Act allows for the collection of contributions for affordable housing where a Council area has been identified as having a need for affordable housing in SEPP 70 subject to a number of conditions including:

- a) The consent authority is satisfied that the proposed development will or is likely to reduce the availability of affordable housing within the area, or
- b) The consent authority is satisfied that the proposed development will create a need for affordable housing within the area, or
- c) The proposed development is allowed only because of the initial zoning of a site, or the rezoning of a site,

Development must only satisfy one of these conditions for Council to be able to require a contribution.

Under SEPP 70 there is also a set of 'Affordable Housing Principles' these principles have to be regarded by the consent authority before imposing such conditions of a development consent.

- 1) Where any of the circumstances described in section 7.32 (1) (a), (b), (c) or (d) of the Act occur, and a State environmental planning policy or local environmental plan authorises an affordable housing condition to be imposed, such a condition should be imposed so that mixed and balanced communities are created.
- 2) Affordable housing is to be created and managed so that a socially diverse residential population representative of all income groups is developed and maintained in a locality.
- 3) Affordable housing is to be made available to a mix of very low, low and moderate income households.
- 4) Affordable housing is to be rented to appropriately qualified tenants and at an appropriate rate of gross household income.
- 5) Land provided for affordable housing is to be used for the purpose of the provision of affordable housing.
- 6) Buildings provided for affordable housing are to be managed so as to maintain their continued use for affordable housing.
- 7) Rental from affordable housing, after deduction of normal landlord's expenses (including management and maintenance costs and all rates and taxes payable in connection with the dwellings), is generally to be used for the purpose of improving or replacing affordable housing or for providing additional affordable housing.
- 8) Affordable housing is to consist of dwellings constructed to a standard that, in the opinion of the consent authority, is consistent with other dwellings in the vicinity.

5.4 Greater Sydney Commission – Metropolis of Three Cities Plan

The Greater Sydney Region Plan, A Metropolis of Three Cities:

- Sets a 40-year vision (to 2056) and establishes a 20-year plan to manage growth and change for Greater Sydney in the context of social, economic and environmental matters
- Informs district and local plans and the assessment of planning proposals
- Assists infrastructure agencies to plan and deliver for growth and change and to align their infrastructure plans to place-based outcomes
- Informs the private sector and the wider community of the growth management and infrastructure investment intentions of government.¹

5.5 Greater Sydney Commission – North District Plan

The North District covers Hornsby, Hunter's Hill, Ku-ring-gai, Lane Cove, Mosman, North Sydney, Northern Beaches, Ryde and Willoughby local government areas.

This North District Plan is a 20-year plan to manage growth in the context of economic, social and environmental matters to achieve the 40-year vision for Greater Sydney. It is a guide for implementing the Greater Sydney Region Plan, A Metropolis of Three Cities, at a district level and is a bridge between regional and local planning.

The District Plan informs local strategic planning statements and local environmental plans, the assessment of planning proposals as well as community strategic plans and policies. The District Plan also assists councils to plan for and support growth and change, and aligns their local planning strategies to place-based outcomes. The Plan guides the decisions of State agencies and informs the private sector and the wider community of approaches to manage growth and change. Community engagement on the District Plan has contributed to a plan for growth that reflects local values and aspirations, in a way that balances regional and local considerations.²

5.6 Ryde Local Environmental Plan 2014 – (RLEP2014)

Council prepared a Local Planning Study in 2010 to respond to the Metropolitan Strategy and Inner North Draft Subregional Strategy. The Local Planning Study aimed to guide the preparation of a new comprehensive local environmental plan (LEP) for the City of Ryde. The LEP contained overarching planning objectives and planning provisions that were to guide the future of development within Ryde.

The 2010 Local Planning Strategy that formed the basis for RLEP2014 was complimented and supported by three over-arching strategies which represented the “blueprint” for Ryde to cover the next 20 years (2030).

The strategies were:-

- Ryde 2021 Community Strategic Plan, prepared by the City of Ryde
- Sydney Metropolitan Strategy, prepared by the Department of Planning
- Inner North Draft Subregional Strategy, also prepared by Dept. of Planning.

COR Local Planning Study 2010 confirmed that a target of 12,000 additional dwellings by 2031 could be met. The study recommended new LEP and DCP controls which were brought into effect to:

- Allow villa and duplex buildings throughout the low density residential areas to deliver diverse, affordable homes for families, lone person and ageing households.
- Encourage duplex development by allowing Torrens title strata subdivision (minimum lot size required).
- Protect the character of the low density residential areas
- Focus growth in compact well serviced centres, while protecting the character and amenity of low density residential areas.

The purpose of the 2010 City of Ryde Local Planning Study was:

- to guide future growth in Ryde over the next 10 years through a range of land use planning initiatives;
- to inform the comprehensive Local Environmental Plan (LEP2011);
- to review and respond to the directions and actions of the Metropolitan Strategy and Draft Inner North Subregional Strategy, in particular to respond to the 12,000 dwelling target and 21,000 jobs target set for the City of Ryde by the Draft Inner North Subregional Strategy.

5.7 City of Ryde Community Strategic Plan 2028

This Community Strategic Plan builds on The City of Ryde 2021 Community Strategic Plan and responds to the latest forecasts on how the city will grow and change, and the feedback and inputs Council received from residents and community leaders over many months of consultation.

The Plan sets out our priorities under seven key outcomes for Ryde's future, and how we will measure and monitor our progress towards these aspirations.

The seven priorities are;

- 1) A vibrant and liveable city - Ryde is a city of welcoming and vibrant neighbourhoods – a range of well-planned clean and safe neighbourhoods and public spaces, designed with a strong sense of identity and place. They are places with character that support sustainable growth and demographic change.
- 2) An active and healthy city - The City of Ryde is an active and healthy community, with diverse recreational spaces and opportunities for people of all ages, abilities and backgrounds. People can easily gather in public spaces or at community events that bring residents together, helping everyone to feel part of the Ryde community
- 3) A natural and sustainable city - The City of Ryde's open spaces and natural areas provide breathing spaces. People can easily access protected catchments and waterways. The built environment retains local character and heritage while providing contemporary energy and resource savings and sensible waste solutions.
- 4) A smart and innovative city - The City of Ryde is designed and planned to encourage new investment, thriving local businesses, local jobs and business opportunities. Community and businesses flourish in an environment of innovation, progression and economic growth.
- 5) A connected and accessible city - Ryde is a city where it is easy, safe and convenient for people to get to work, visit friends or shops, or use local facilities and services. Walking, cycling and public transport are easy to use and well connected throughout the city.
- 6) A diverse and inclusive city - The City of Ryde is home to a diverse community, where people celebrate their similarities and differences. The city includes diverse cultural spaces and places for people to come together. This rich social, cultural, historical and creative tapestry provides an enduring legacy for future generations.
- 7) An open and progressive city - The City of Ryde is well led and managed, supported by ethical organisations that deliver projects and services to the community by listening, advocating and responding to their needs. The community and residents are actively engaged in shaping the future of our City.

5.8 Analysis

A key action of the Draft Inner North Subregional Strategy was the setting of a target of 12,000 additional dwellings to be delivered by the City for Ryde's principle local environmental plan by 2031. This was the basis of the 2010 Housing Study that responded to the Draft Inner North Subregional Strategy. It was the intention that Inner North Councils planned for sufficient zoned land to accommodate their local government area housing targets through their Principal LEPs. As a result of the 2010 Housing Study City of Ryde Council demonstrated in the Dwelling Numbers Study that the 12,000 dwelling target could be met.

6.0 Dwelling Numbers/Current Dwelling Profile

The following dwelling figures were collated using Local Development Application (LDA) information held by Council. LDA approvals help to account for dwellings that are approved by Council. The numbers below reflect “additional dwellings” to the City of Ryde LGA. Anticipated dwelling figures were calculated for residential zones based on the average additional dwellings approved from 2014 to 2017.

7.0 Housing Issues, Constraints & Diversity

7.1 Meeting State Government dwelling targets

The Ryde LEP 2014 has the development capacity to enable Ryde to meet the 5 year dwellings target in the North District Plan. Detailed analysis indicates that approximately 13,000 additional dwellings will be completed in Ryde LGA by 2022 substantially exceeding the 7,600 target set in the North District Plan. About 2,300 of these will comprise medium density and secondary dwellings in the low density residential zones and 10,500 additional dwellings will comprise apartments.

Council's records of current approvals and development (ATTACHED) have been assessed under the current planning controls indicate that this target will be achieved and exceeded. These figures, when considered in relation to potential future housing, also indicate that a projected target based on traditional past growth rates may not be appropriate.

Additionally, the majority of Ryde's housing stock comprises of apartments and detached dwellings of 3 or more bedrooms. The proposed Housing Strategy will focus on diversity, affordability and set the 6-10 and 20 year targets. Furthermore, the housing strategy will address housing supply gaps, by identifying types of housing that is required to address particular needs and the demand based on expected population growth and housing supply trends. The Housing Strategy will also provide land use planning approaches and mechanisms to deliver those options.

The State Government now has a number of mechanisms available to intervene in the supply of residential housing (Urban Activation Precincts, gateway reviews of planning proposals, future subregional plans and declaring projects as state significant) and this creates some uncertainty as to the number of dwellings that may be achieved in the future. The introduction of urban activation precincts by the State Government has caused increased stress on infrastructure, such as public transport and traffic congestion and has provided the increased housing stock over and above the housing target that is set for Ryde in 2021.

Recommendation
1.1	Confirm that the current North District Plan 5 year target can be met within the Ryde LGA and set the expectation for 6-10 and 20 year housing targets for Ryde.
1.2	Identify supply gaps and demand based on population growth, housing trends and demographics to enhance housing diversity.
1.3	Investigate the impacts of UAP's introduced by the State Government and identify the necessary measures for Ryde to take to ensure the liveability and amenity of Ryde is retained. This will also identify how the potential increased stress on infrastructure, public transport and open space provision can be mitigated.
1.4	Find an effective measure to project housing targets without relying on previous supply. Housing figures have been achieved based on the past targets, but this type of delivery rate cannot be expected in the future and has led to out of sequence development between housing and infrastructure. Furthermore, the current pace of development is no longer able to be supported based on a previous target, this will further encourage more out of sync approach to housing development in Ryde.

1.5	Evaluation of current planning controls Most of the easy development sites are disappearing, for example Shepherds Bay, Meadowbank and Macquarie Park. This will begin to re-focus future growth within Town Centres that have the capacity for growth and the incentive for redevelopment. The housing strategy should ensure evaluation of the current controls to ensure this growth is viable. A review into the current planning controls for apartment development with a view to recommend changes, if necessary, to achieve development that meets the needs of the current and predicted future community.

Given the current dwelling figures, the Housing Strategy focus need not be based on additional growth, but on directing and guiding the current known growth based on infrastructure provision and character of localities. The focus and assessment should include consideration of whether projected targets, based on previous growth, are appropriate and whether such projections are achievable based on current and planned infrastructure provision.

7.2 Providing a suitable range of dwelling types

People's housing needs change over time as people go through different life stages. Household structure is anticipated to change over time with more lone person and couple only households. This will lead to demand for smaller dwellings. There is also a substantial push for medium density developments that will cater for multigenerational living.

Whilst Council has current planning controls for apartment development an assessment of the resulting development approvals needs to be undertaken to consider if that development is appropriate and meet the needs of the current and predicted future community. A review of the current planning controls is required to determine if changes are required. Changes may relate to size of apartments (i.e., more bedrooms, minimum apartment floor area or more studio apartments), need for more seniors housing or student or key worker accommodation, development design (considering aesthetics and safety) and amenity for residents, etc.

Recommendation
2.1	Assessment of options and consideration of the demand for appropriate diversity in housing and recommendations for changes if required
2.2	A particular issue to be addressed in the Housing Strategy is the relationship between the Codes SEPP and Ryde LEP 2014. Subject to conditions, Ryde LEP permitted infill medium density development throughout the low density residential areas, to provide affordable, diverse housing types. The Codes SEPP overrides Ryde LEP and the Housing Strategy will need to consider options for medium density housing that continues to achieve Council's aims of protecting the valued character of residential suburbs while allowing for medium density development. Develop recommendations for medium density development including potential R3 land use zones and reasons for their preferred options.
2.3	Investigate options for changing the current apartment dwelling ratios to include more 4 bedroom units and the feasibility. Furthermore, investigate the demand for terrace housing and medium density housing options to suit families and Ryde LGA demography.
2.4	Growing and age: Investigate the provision of seniors housing, which includes identifying housing options for older populations to downsize whilst maintaining access to commercial areas and public transport.
2.5	Design Excellence: Investigate the R2 height control (are we losing character because of the height currently permitted?) and setbacks to create better outcomes? What's the community's response to character is there a relationship between controls and the community's perceived character of an area?
2.6	Is 'build to rent' model a viable option that could create new affordable housing in Ryde recommend planning control options to help encourage.
2.7	Adaptable housing : Investigate provision of housing for aging population and people with disabilities. Provide options on how adaptable housing could be introduced into new developments.

7.3 Medium Density Housing Code (Missing Middle)

Council currently has a large number of apartment and existing detached dwelling houses. However, current and projected medium density development, particularly with the introduction of Part 3B of the SEPP, indicates that a substantial review of planning for multi dwelling housing development is required to provide for appropriate increased diversity in housing density and form.

The Ryde Local Environment Plan 2014 currently permits Dual Occupancy and Multi Dwelling Housing in the R2 Low Density Zone. As a result of this the introduction of Part 3B of the SEPP will potentially significantly increase multi dwelling housing which may have an adverse impact on the character and amenity of much of the LGA.

On the 6 July 2018 State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt and Complying Development Codes) Amendment (Low Rise Medium Density Housing) ('Missing Middle') came into effect. Under the Amendment the following could be permitted in the R2 Low Density Residential zone throughout the City of Ryde as complying development:

- dual occupancy developments on all land with an area of 580sqm and a width of 12m
- Multi dwelling housing (terraces) on land with an area of 900sqm and a width of 18m and
- Manor houses, which are a form of residential flat building on land with an area of 600sqm and width of 15m.

Recommendation
3.1	RLEP2014 currently permits Dual Occupancy and Multi Dwelling housing in the R2 Low Density Zone. As a result of the introduction of Part 3B of the SEPP will have potentially adverse impact on the character and amenity of much of the LGA. The Strategy needs to propose options for the provision of multi dwelling housing development; assess the impacts of those options and make recommendations for change. Options may include, but not be limited to, the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Amend the R2 zone and introduce an R3 zone in various localities, - Amend lot size or other planning controls to direct medium density development to appropriate localities that can be serviced by existing infrastructure and be consistent with the character of the locality, - Consider a Part 3B SEPP exemption or amendment for Ryde Council. - Assess the impacts of the status quo in relation to multi dwelling housing, - Other options as appropriate.
3.2	Assess impact of land value and economics of removing multi-dwelling housing from the R2 zone. Provide options for alternative land uses to offset that removal?
3.3	Discuss options for new permissibility tables for each zone and the objectives that accompany this.

3.4	Identify R3 zones and investigate the merit in expanding these areas. This could include; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Identifying patterns (e.g. concentrations 580+sqm sites) in the current approach; or - Areas with laneways and sites with dual frontages - Addressing the issues on LGA boundary lines e.g. Melrose Park/Wharf Rd and West Ryde Gladesville IN2 areas - South side of Epping Road - Options for housing around Meadowbank Education precinct - Transition from low density to high density areas - Well serviced by transport - Large sites – e.g. TG Milner Field
3.5	Examine the options for new R3 transitional areas between IN2 / R2 and B4 / R2 Need to mount an argument for the current infill development approach for dual occupancy – it has operated successfully for 20 years. Could the missing middle be used as a transition to town centres – the reason Council did not do this in 2010 was because it created small lots around town centres thus reducing capacity for expansion of some centres. This may not be an issue in the future if Council does not intend on expansion of the centres, rather leaving room only for intensification of density remaining in the centres. Provide a statement or summary of what this R3 zone should provide. Currently the existing R3 zones do not have a consistent character. An assessment of what the R3 zone should look like and how it should work to provide effective and good outcomes.
3.6	Investigate the potential of ‘Growth Compacts’ & ‘Value Capture’ and whether they would be beneficial in the City of Ryde. Linking housing growth to infrastructure provision; what are the steps for introduction and implementation?

7.4 Affordable Housing

The State Environmental Planning Policy (Affordable Rental Housing) 2009 and the State Environmental Planning Policy No. 70 Affordable Housing (Revised Schemes) are policies which encourage the development of new affordable housing and the maintenance of existing affordable housing.

These two SEPP's that set out guidelines regarding affordable housing in NSW. Below the two SEPP's are addressed with regard to their impact and relation to Ryde.

7.4.1 SEPP (Affordable Rental Housing) 2009

Affordable rental housing is designed to increase the amount and diversity of housing for people with low to medium incomes. The NSW Government has a State Environmental Planning Policy (SEPP) on Affordable rental housing (AHSEPP). The AHSEPP seeks to encourage partnerships between private and not-for-profit housing providers to deliver a new supply of affordable housing, assists in the provision of affordable housing closer to major employment areas, consistent with the State Plan, mitigate against the loss of any existing affordable housing, support innovative affordable housing styles, including granny flats and new generation boarding houses and delivers good urban design outcomes. There are several housing typologies that are accepted forms of affordable housing including Granny Flats and Boarding Houses.

7.4.2 Affordable Housing (SEPP 70)

The City of Ryde currently has an affordable housing policy that provides a framework to advocate for, provide and manage affordable housing in the Ryde LGA. Council has produced an Affordable Housing Policy to help address housing affordability for essential key workers within the Ryde and to lessen the negative impacts that housing stress can have across a community. The Policy seeks to intervene in creating increased levels of affordable housing for household who are currently on very low, low and moderate incomes into the future. The Affordable Housing Policy identifies a clear target that 5% of new dwellings built between 2016 and 2031 will be affordable dwellings. Typically local government do not intervene directly in the increasing of supply of affordable housing dwellings but the City of Ryde intends to be a leading Council in Sydney to provide affordable housing, working alongside the NSW Government, development industries, community housing providers and community members to achieve this goal.

It is forecast that the policy will not only increase the supply of affordable housing for key workers but also address the negative social impacts that a failing housing market is having in Ryde. Furthermore, the policy sets clear objectives to ensure the provision of affordable housing in Ryde;

- Identifies what is affordable housing
- Identifies which segments of the community are classified as key workers
- Details the extent of the housing affordability issue for these people in Ryde LGA
- Sets out the role of local government to advocate for, facilitate and provide affordable housing and some of the mechanisms available
- Identifies 21 programs to support the Policy's vision and goals.

Additionally, in late 2017 Council considered a report that sought to forward a Planning Proposal for Gateway Determination for the inclusion of affordable housing into Ryde's Local Environmental Plan. This Planning Proposal sought to be implemented through requiring 7% of the additional residential floor space of any up-zoning to affordable housing to be dedicated to council and made available to very low to moderate income tenants. Council resolved to unanimously support the planning proposal, and subsequently this proposal was forwarded to the Department of Planning for a Gateway Determination. This planning proposal is still awaiting the gateway determination and has been with the Department of Planning since mid-September 2017.

The Planning Proposal to introduce the following clause into the LEP.

Introduce new Clause 6.12 Affordable housing.

- 1) The consent authority may, when granting development consent to a development containing a residential component impose a condition requiring a contribution equivalent to the affordable housing contribution levy being:-
 - a) for development within an R3 Medium Density Residential zone, R4 High Density Residential zone and/or a Town Centre identified on Ryde Local Environmental Plan 2014 Centres Map, 2% of the total floor area of the residential component.
 - b) for development resulting from a change in the zoning of the land on or after the day Ryde Local Environmental Plan 2014 (Amendment No 15) commences 7% of so much of the total floor area of the residential component.
 - c) for development resulting from a change in the maximum height and floor space permissible, 7% of the additional residential component.

- 2) The consent authority may, when granting consent to a development, exclude from floor space ratio calculations the gross floor area of the affordable housing to be dedicated to Council.
Note: A financial contribution will be required in accordance with Development Control Plan 2014 Part 3.6 Affordable Housing when the required affordable housing contribution levy results in part of a dwelling being required.

The Planning Proposal is supported by a background study which demonstrates that the proposed planning controls will not unreasonably impact on development feasibility. This represents a positive social impact and addresses an identified social need for this type of housing as demonstrated through the reports and background studies provided to Council. The Planning Proposal will contribute to the achievement of a diversity of housing stock in the City of Ryde. Council still awaits a formal response to the Gateway in January 2019.

Concurrently, Council has received a number of affordable housing units and appointed a Community Housing Provider to manage these units on its behalf. Some of these units are within the Shepherds Bay precinct and Macquarie Park precinct. There are also several in the pipeline for delivery to Council from the Top Ryde area.

Recommendation
4.1	New Affordable Housing Guidelines were released in December 2018. The strategy needs to assess how we comply with these new guidelines.

7.5 Boarding Houses

Boarding houses play a key role in providing affordable housing for many people on lower incomes needing accommodation close to work, study, transport, and services. In particular, the City of Ryde has seen a significant increase in demand for low rental housing for student accommodation in proximity to Macquarie University. Ryde Development Control Plan 2014 Part 3.5 sets out the provisions and controls of boarding houses in Ryde's residential and business zones. The DCP and ARHSEPP provide strict controls relating to boarding houses with regards to FSR, Height and car parking. This part also includes controls for a new generation of boarding houses providing affordable housing options including for students and key workers in areas close to tertiary education facilities, hospitals, and centres. The DCP also ensures a higher standard of accommodation and protect community standards. In the development of this part of the DCP, Council has strived for a balance between a number of factors, including:

- Promoting residential amenity, safety and wellbeing for boarding house occupants as well as for neighbouring residents;
- Encouraging the development of a mix of housing types and affordable housing options, and
- Meeting State government policy requirements whilst seeking development outcomes which are compatible within the local context.

There are some existing boarding houses in Ryde; these tend to be existing dwelling houses that have been converted to boarding houses. More recently there have been several LDA's for demolition and re-build of purpose built boarding houses (8 Tucker Street, 89 Culloden Rd, 95 Ryedale Road (court approved), 14A Ethel Street (court approved) and 49 Charles Street).

Recommendation
5.1	Investigate options to introduce design excellence or controls to ensure better design and form of boarding houses. Ensuring boarding houses suit the local character and do not adversely impact the existing urban form whether low density residential or within a mixed use zone.
5.2	The strategy should consider the current planning controls for Boarding Houses and the adequacy of such controls in relation to projected need, market forces and Council's Affordable Housing Policy.
5.3	The strategy should propose options for the provision of this type of housing with an assessment of the advantages and disadvantages of each option proposed. Following that assessment the strategy should make recommendations for changes.
5.4	Identify potential areas or sites where boarding houses would be suitable
5.5	Consult with Macquarie University regarding their SSDA for the University Hub redevelopment. Student housing is set to be included in this redevelopment and Council should consult with university regarding whether this needs to be supported by additional boarding houses within proximity to the university to help provide diversity of housing for university students.

7.6 Provision of Infrastructure

As dwellings growth within Ryde LGA is on track to exceed the previous 2031 target for additional dwellings outlined in the Inner North Sub-regional Plan and also the target for additional dwellings by 2021 set in the North District Plan; Council is advocating for the increase in infrastructure to support the demand and to catch up so that it can meet future growth targets. Growth projections are currently predicted on recent growth and it is Council's view that this level cannot be sustained in the Ryde LGA. Infrastructure provision is required in order to unlock future growth potential; therefore with limited infrastructure provision growth cannot be sustained in the City of Ryde. The identification of infrastructure will be carried out within the planned Infrastructure Strategy within the Accelerated LEP review. This will look at the provision of infrastructure and identification of community benefits (for VPA contributions etc.)

The availability of education facilities has emerged as an important issue in recent years with the closure of several local schools and the increasing population. Many local schools are at capacity with no room for further expansion. The State Government has acknowledged this issue through the Northern Sydney Regional Action Plan and has indicated a commitment to providing additional schools, with 3 new schools announced and 2 major school developments. Census data indicates that 43% of units in Ryde have children. There are a high proportion of younger people living in medium and high rise residential development. There is also pressure on associated services such as before and after school care. Council has engaged a consultant to carry out a Childcare Strategy which is set to be presented to Council in the near future.

Below is a set of recommendations for consideration in the Ryde Housing Strategy regarding infrastructure.

Recommendation
6.1	Investigate the viability of Light Rail extension from Carlingford to Macquarie University. This should also include other options for integrated transport choices to increase the connectivity within and connections to and from Ryde.
6.2	Investigate current and future demand for active transport infrastructure (especially cycle-ways and footpaths), with a particular focus on high density areas. This could include; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Establishing design excellence criteria for active transport infrastructure - Develop and implement a delivery plan to improve active transport infrastructure, especially in areas experiencing significant growth and densification
6.3	Investigate areas that would suit new regional sporting facilities – new indoor regional facilities. E.g. Indoor Netball at Meadowbank, Hockey field location if Woolworths is to develop Waterloo Rd site.
6.4	Investigate sites that could fill the gap of provision of open space. This will take into consideration open space guidelines and the proximity of open space to housing.
6.5	Address issues relating to housing growth: The provision of infrastructure will be addressed, in particular, education, transport, utilities and access to recreational space, and other matters such as the retention of employment generating lands (e.g. IN2, B3, B7 zoned land), sustainability and environmental impacts of development.

8.0 Key Findings

Key Findings
Sustainable and managed growth Ryde has currently doubled its housing targets and there is still generous room for growth under the RLEP2014 controls. State policies such as the Missing Middle need to be managed and controlled to ensure effective implementation that will not lead to further increases in supply that are not needed to meet Council's State Government targets.
Provision of infrastructure Housing growth and infrastructure need to be sequenced to ensure housing can be effectively implemented and supported in Ryde. Currently infrastructure such as open space provision, transport upgrades and community facilities are in deficit due to historical rates of growth.
Managing the impact of State Government projects There are several proposals in Ryde which seek to create significant change to particular areas of the LGA. This includes the Ivanhoe Estate redevelopment that seeks to introduce an additional 3500 dwellings to Macquarie Park. Additionally, the Meadowbank Employment Area and school redevelopment will place increased amounts of traffic on the roads, place increased strain on the rail network between Rhodes to Epping. There could be potential to investigate options around value capture to ensure full potential and supporting infrastructure can be achieved if these projects continue to proceed. Furthermore, the State Government needs to help provide these developments as an example to developers to display open space provision, community facilities, mixed use redevelopment that works.
Forecast the future direction of housing in Ryde This is more than just forecasting supply; this should encompass how housing should evolve and how it should look.
The 2010 Housing Study also provided a list of key findings. Some of these findings are still relevant and are listed below: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Maintaining a diversity of housing choice is desirable. • Accessibility to dwellings for older people and those with disabilities should be improved. • Housing is increasingly unaffordable • Higher densities should be concentrated in town centres. • The character of the low density areas should be retained. • Transitions in built form should be made between higher density areas and areas of lower densities. • Town centres are good places for increased residential densities, but new buildings should be well designed and accessible. • Infill development should be grouped in defined areas rather than spread throughout the low density residential areas.

1.0 Executive Summary

The Greater Sydney Commission's five District Plans which came into effect in March 2018 are a guide for implementing A Metropolis of Three Cities - the Greater Sydney Region Plan at a District level. The District Plans are 20 year plans to inform local environmental plans, community strategic plans and the assessment of planning proposals.

The North District Plan includes the Local Government areas of Hornsby, Hunter's Hill, Ku-ring-gai, Lane Cove, Northern Beaches, Mosman, Willoughby, Ryde and North Sydney. The North District Plan has set a dwelling numbers target for each of the Council's within it for the period 2016 - 2021. For Ryde the target is set at an additional 7,600 dwellings.

A study of dwelling delivery numbers has been undertaken for the City of Ryde for the period 2016 - 2021. It is anticipated that a total of 12,786 dwellings will be created in the City of Ryde between 2016 - 2021 well in excess of the North District Plan's 7,600 dwelling target.

This report provides detailed information on the basis on which the dwelling delivery figures for 2016 – 2021 were derived and copies of all approvals relied upon in the development of those figures.

2.0 Methodology

Approval for the development of dwellings occurs through several processes including Council approvals, private certifiers, court decisions and the approvals issued by the Department of Planning and Environment.

Anticipated dwelling delivery numbers within the following tables were determined on the basis of a turnaround period, from development approval to construction, used/excepted by the Department of Planning and Environment.

For the Residential Zones (R1, R2, R3 and R4 outside of Town Centres) a 2 year turnaround and for Town Centres a 3 year turnaround from development approval to construction has been used.

It is considered that both turnaround periods are highly conservative. Through the work undertaken for this project many examples were found of approvals issued in Town Centres in 2013 having been completed and strata subdivided by 2015.

As this project is to reflect dwellings delivered from 2016 such approvals as described above were not included in the figures used.

The basis for the figures in the following tables has been derived from the below information:

- Residential Zones - LDA's/CDC's approved from 1 January 2014 to the 31 December 2018
- Town Centres - LDA's determined from 1 January 2013 to 31 December 2018
- Strata Plans - registered after 1 January 2016
- Deposited Plans registered in 2015 – this applies to the R1 zone (being Putney Hill) only where dwellings are currently under construction on a small lot subdivision.
- Anticipated dwelling approvals for residential zones for the year 2019 – based on an average of approvals since 2014
- One (1) pending LDA anticipated to be approved in early 2019 with completion expected prior to December 2021 (Eastwood Town Centre)
- Existing dwelling figures based on;
 - Cadastre configuration i.e. both DP's and strata's being redeveloped.
 - 2016 Aerial Photographs
 - Site Inspections

Note:

1. Serviced apartments, student accommodation, independent living seniors housing and boarding houses (which are constructed as self-contained accommodation) are treated as individual dwellings.
2. Some strata numbers could represent commercial lots etc. Not considered to be significant in number.

1.0 Executive Summary

The Greater Sydney Commission's five District Plans which came into effect in March 2018 are a guide for implementing A Metropolis of Three Cities - the Greater Sydney Region Plan at a District level.

The North District Plan includes the Local Government areas of Hornsby, Hunter's Hill, Ku-ring-gai, Lane Cove, Northern Beaches, Mosman, Willoughby, Ryde and North Sydney. The North District Plan has set a dwelling numbers target for each of the Council's within it for the period 2016 - 2021. Each Council is to develop further 6–10 year housing targets.

A study of dwelling delivery numbers has been undertaken for the City of Ryde for the period 2016 – 2022. This study shows that the City of Ryde well exceeds its dwelling target of 7,600 dwellings for the 2016 – 2021 period. A further study has been undertaken of potential dwelling delivery post 2022 based on approved concept plans, State Significant Development approvals and the development of remaining land under Ryde LEP 2014 controls. It is calculated that a total of 23, 618 dwellings are capable of being delivered post 2022 under existing controls in the City of Ryde.

This report provides detailed information on the basis on which the dwelling delivery figures post 2022 were derived.

2.0 Methodology

The basis for the figures in the following tables has been derived from the below information.

2.1 Residential Zones

- R1 General Residential zone and R3 Medium Density Residential zone – No action required as there is no additional development capacity available in either zone.
- R2 Low Density Residential zoned – Identification of all Torrens title land capable of being developed for either:
 - Dual occupancy development or
 - Multi dwelling housing development and assessment of potential number of additional dwellings able to be delivered on such land under Ryde LEP controls.

Note: The capacity for additional dwellings in the R2 zone through secondary dwelling development has not been calculated.

- R4 High Density Residential zone – No calculation of additional dwelling potential on R4 land has been undertaken. This will be carried out in the near future.

2.2 Town Centres

In reviewing the post 2022 dwelling capacity of Town Centres only land considered as having no obvious impediment to being developed has been included.

As a result the following land has been excluded from all calculations:

- Land where the zoning prohibits residential development.

Note: for the Macquarie Park Corridor Town Centre this included all land zoned B3 Commercial Core (the zone does permit serviced apartments but has not been included) and land zoned B7 Business Park.

- Council owned land
 - i. Parklands
 - ii. Depots
 - iii. Commercial properties
 - iv. Community Service properties

 - Infrastructure sites
 - i. Hospitals/ health care facilities
 - ii. Schools/ Colleges
 - iii. Telecommunication sites

 - Seniors housing developments
 - Heritage items and heritage conservation areas
 - Land which was held under a long term lease
 - Land containing a development constructed under controls consistent with those currently within Ryde LEP 2014.
 - Land containing development that was approved after the gazettal of LEP 2014 but before an amendment to LEP 2014 occurred giving the land greater development potential.
- Note: This applies mainly to land within Macquarie Park Town Centre where the Herring Road Urban Activation Precinct can into effect after the gazettal of LEP 2014.
- Land accounted for in the Dwelling Delivery City of Ryde 2016 – 2021 study.

All remaining land in a Town Centre was considered capable of future potential dwelling delivery.

Note: It is considered that the exclusions have resulted in a very conservative level of development potential having been considered. Should development of existing seniors housing developments, heritage conservation areas or infrastructure sites be included, substantially more dwelling delivery potential exists in all Centres.

To determine potential dwelling delivery numbers for each Centre post 2022 the following was included:

- Dwelling numbers within approved Concept plans
- Dwelling numbers indicated in Planning Proposals where Gateway has been issued
- Dwelling numbers estimated within State Significant Development
- Dwelling numbers from approved LDAs post 1 January 2019
- Dwelling numbers from pending LDAs where the LDA has been exhibited.
- Dwelling numbers, based on one dwelling per 100sqm of gross floor area calculated using RLEP 2014 FSR controls for remaining sites.

Note: For Eastwood Town Centre where no FSR applies only a height control, a standard number of units per floor plate was calculated from recent development approvals and applied to the number of storeys permitted under the control.

As figures reflect additional dwellings to be created, existing dwellings on sites capable of redevelopment were determined through:

- Cadastre configuration i.e. both DP's and strata's
- 2016 Aerial Photographs
- Site Inspections

The above existing dwelling figures were subtracted for each site from the proposed resulting in a figure that represented additional dwellings to be created.

The dwelling figures documented in this study represent the maximum dwelling potential possible in each Town Centre under Ryde LEP 2014 controls. It does not take into consideration the likelihood of development occurring based on:

- Size of lots – small lot subdivisions prevail in both Eastwood and West Ryde
- Fragmented ownership
- Lack of incentives in the development controls that exist
- Changing economic development climate

3.0 Ryde LEP 2014 Residential Zones Capacity Post 2022

3.1 R1 General Residential Zone

No additional development capacity. The R1 zone applies to one property in Ryde being Putney Hill. Dwelling numbers for the site were determined by an approved concept plan which by 2021 will have been achieved.

3.2 R2 Low Density Residential Zone

Potential Post 2022 dwelling numbers in R2 zone has been based on land being development under LEP 2014 for:

- A. Multi dwelling housing development - minimum site area 900sqm and minimum road frontage 20m
- B. Dual occupancy development - minimum site area of 580sqm and minimum road frontage of 20m

Potential multi dwelling housing or dual occupancy development sites in R2 zone
Lot size	Number of Lots capable of post 2022 development
Potential Multi dwelling development sites (min 900sqm and 20m frontage)	1,119
Potential Dual Occupancy development sites (580sqm – 899sqm and min 20m frontage)	2,963
Total	4,082

Note: The R2 zone consists of 22, 494 Torrens title lots. No existing strata lots were considered in any calculations.

A. Multi dwelling housing developments - additional dwellings created on potential Multi dwelling development lots

All R2 lots – min 900m ² and frontage 20m	Lot Count	Additional dwellings per lot	Number of Additional Dwellings
Area >= 900 and Area < 1200	850	2	1700
Area >= 1200 and Area < 1500	149	3	447
Area >= 1500 and Area < 1800	38	4	152

Area >= 3300 and Area < 3600	4	10	40
Area > 3600	21	11	231
Total number of additional dwellings			2,936

RLEP 2014 Clause 4.5A Density controls for Zone R2 Low Density Residential – 1 dwelling per 300sqm for multi dwelling housing developments. To determine number of additional dwellings created one existing dwelling per site has been subtracted from the potential number.

Note: A maximum of 12 dwellings are permitted on any multi dwelling development site under Development Control Plan 2014

B. Dual occupancy (Lot size – Road frontage min 20m and area between 580sqm and less than 900sqm)

All R2 lots 580sqm – 899sqm and min frontage 20m	Additional dwellings per lot created	Number of Additional Dwellings
2963	1	2,963

Summary of R2 Post 2022 Potential dwelling delivery
Development type	Additional dwelling numbers
Multi dwelling development	2,936
Dual Occupancy development	2,963
Total Potential Post 2022 Dwelling Delivery	5,899

Note: The capacity for additional dwellings in the R2 zone through secondary dwelling development has not been calculated.

3.3 R3 Medium Density Residential Zone

No further development capacity. The R3 zone applies to land previously developed under the Ryde Planning Scheme Ordinance to specific density and dwelling number capacity. All sites have been fully developed under current controls.

3.4 R4 High Density Residential Zone

No calculation of additional dwelling potential on R4 land has been undertaken. This will be carried out in the near future.

- Limited crossing opportunities

Who is it for?

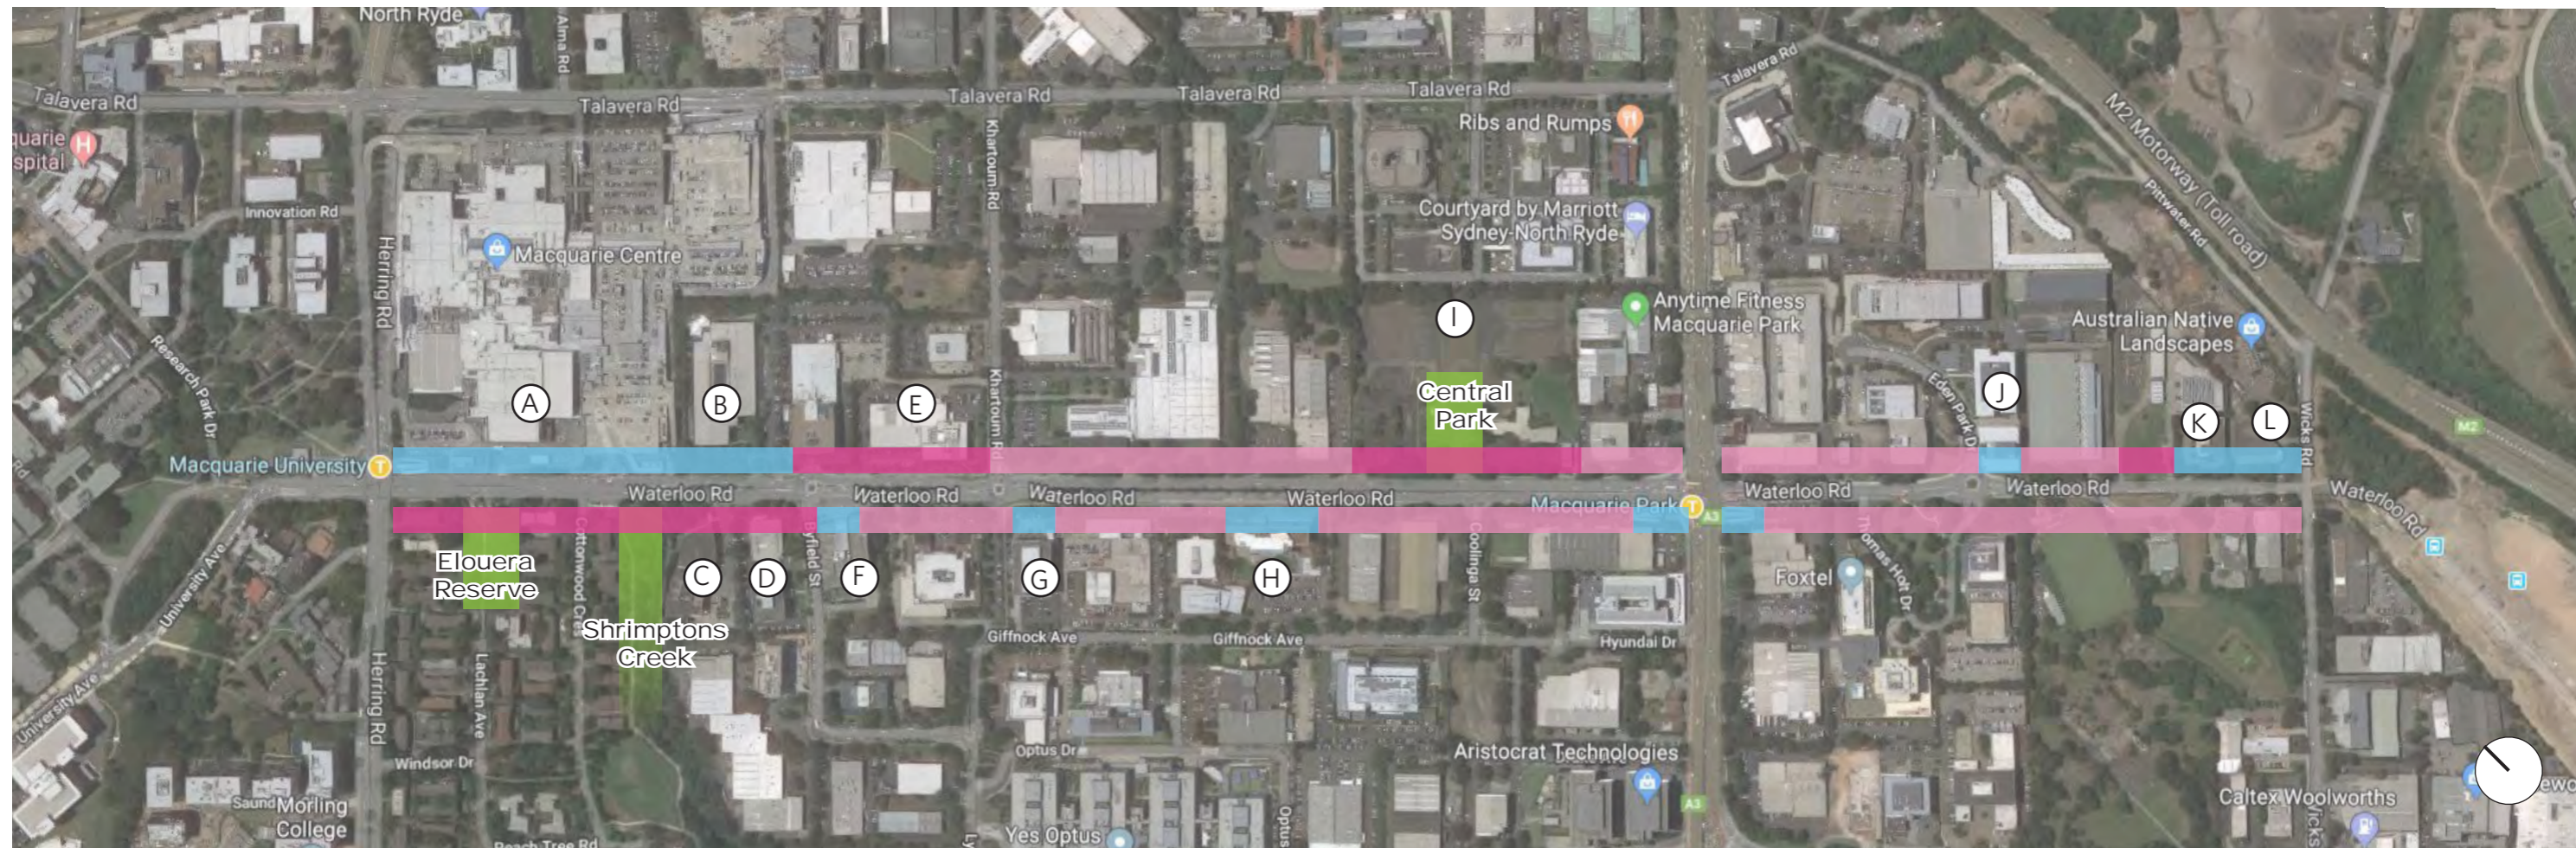

Primary users:

- Workers (at different fitness levels) seeking lunch time/after-hour exercising opportunities
- Local residents, including families, children and elderly
- Commuters
- Students

Secondary users:

- Cyclists

Opportunities and Constraints

Design Principles

Objectives:

The design of the Linear Park is:

- To cater for the recreational needs of a range of users.
- To create a safe and pleasant focal point.
- To retain and enhance existing vegetation.
- To create an interesting outdoor experience along the journey.
- To integrate with existing and future public open space.
- To enhance ecological value and foster wildlife in the city centre.
- To promote environmental sustainability.

Principles:

The design of the Linear Park should follow the principles below:

- Create varying open space experience (i.e urban edge or park-like) in response to the existing/desired future character in different sections of Waterloo Road.
- Create inter-connected points of interest throughout the journey.
- Maintain a high level of passive surveillance.
- Provide adequate lighting for night time safety.
- Consider Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) principles.
- Retain existing mature trees where possible.
- Design in response to the microclimate conditions, such as shade, wind and solar exposure.
- Create a buffer from the harsh environment of Waterloo Road.
- Enable direct path connections to adjoining sites.
- Create desire lines to building entries and key destinations.
- Provide uses that activates building frontages to the park.
- Provide resting/people-watching/gathering areas for social interaction, especially near building entries.
- Provide complementary facilities such as water bubblers, bike racks, signage and shade structures at appropriate locations.
- Apply a consistent landscape approach to entries to building, street corners, railway stations and bus stops.
- Mitigate visual impacts of detracting elements such as substations, hydrant boosters, blank walls etc.
- Integrate water sensitive urban design measures in landscape elements where appropriate.

Scenario 1 - Arrival Point

Applicable to:

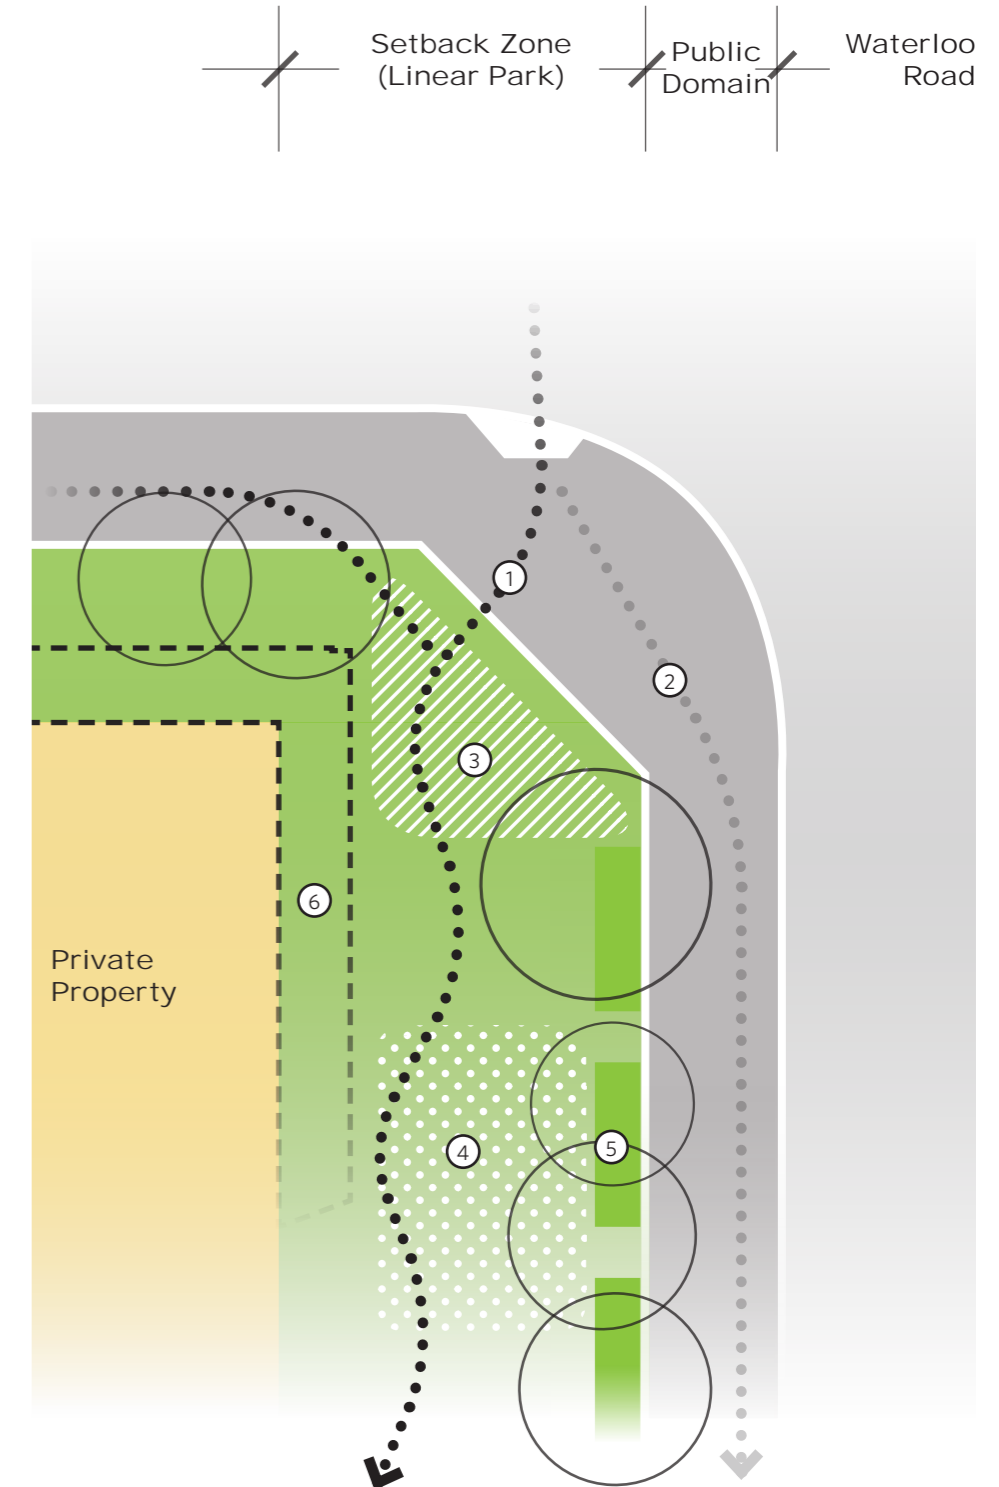

- Corner sites
- Sites that have frontages to a public road and a public open space e.g. Shrimptons Creek

Aims:

- To begin the journey for each section of the linear park.
- To create an inviting entry experience to the linear park.

Key elements:

1. Primary / slow movement corridor in a form of an informal meandering path that connects all recreational zones and adjoining sites.
2. Secondary / fast movement corridor for cyclists and commuters who intend to travel from Point A to Point B quickly; to be designed as per COR's public domain design manual.
3. Park 'doormat' - to create a welcoming arrival point to bring people into each section of the linear park; provide opportunities for feature planting, public art, directional signage, water bubblers, bike pumps, bike racks and those as described in No.4.
4. Recreational zone for strolling, jogging, gathering, playing and relaxing with landscape planting and recreational facilities such as kiosks, coffee shops, seating, tables, turf space, picnic benches, ping pong tables, fitness station, community gardens, etc.
5. Tree retention zone with low shrub planting to provide a green buffer to Waterloo Road.
6. Semi-private zone - a low landscape edge or an active interface with outdoor seating and dining opportunities, if associated with ground floor retail uses.

Scenario 2 - Green Corridor

Applicable to:

- Major development sites with a significant frontage
- Sites neighbouring properties with a high redevelopment potential or a development proposal

Aims:

- To provide a continuous recreational journey.
- To bring people into the linear park and away from the main road.

Key elements:

1. Primary / slow movement corridor - a meandering concrete path that connects all recreational zones.
2. Secondary / fast movement corridor for cyclists and commuters who intend to travel from Point A to Point B quickly; to be designed as per COR's public domain design manual.
3. Recreational zone for strolling, jogging, gathering, playing and relaxing with landscape planting and recreational facilities such as kiosks, coffee shops, seating, tables, turfed space, picnic benches, ping pong tables, fitness station, community gardens, etc.
4. Tree retention zone with low shrub planting to provide a green buffer to Waterloo Road.
5. Building entry - to provide opportunities for feature planting, public art, directional signage, water bubblers, bike pumps, bike racks and those as described in No.3.
6. Direct, identifiable and DDA-compliant building access.
7. Semi-private zone - a low landscape edge or an active interface with outdoor seating and dining opportunities, if associated with ground floor retail uses.
8. Driveway crossing point - pedestrians to be prioritised over cars; driveways are to be minimised where possible and treated with traffic calming measures such as cobblestone paving.

Scenario 3 - Pocket Park

Applicable to:

- Sites with a smaller frontage
- Sites neighbouring properties which are unlikely to redevelop in the foreseeable future

Aims:

- To create a 'pocket park' experience for the sections of the linear park which will be developed in a 'piecemeal' fashion.
- To design the linear park to be an integral part of the public domain.

Key elements:

1. Primary movement corridor for all users; to be designed as per COR's public domain design manual.
2. Secondary / slow movement corridor - a meandering concrete path that connects all recreational zones.
3. Recreational zone are located close to the public domain so that they are perceived as part of the public space; should have minimal visual and physical barriers from the public domain and are designed for gathering, playing and relaxing with facilities such as kiosks, coffee shops, seating, tables, turf space, picnic benches, ping pong tables, fitness station, community gardens, etc.
4. Tree retention zone - to provide shade and maintain vegetation coverage.
5. Building entry - to provide opportunities for feature planting, public art, directional signage, water bubblers, bike pumps, bike racks and those as described in No.3.
6. Direct, identifiable and DDA-compliant building access.
7. Enabling future connections to adjoining sites.
8. Semi-private zone - a low landscape edge or an active interface with outdoor seating and dining opportunities, if associated with ground floor retail uses.
9. Driveway crossing point - pedestrians to be prioritised over cars; driveways are to be minimised where possible and treated with traffic calming measures such as cobblestone paving.
