WINNERS OF ‘MY RYDE VISION 2028’ ANNOUNCED

The City of Ryde is delighted to announce the winners of the ‘My Ryde Vision’ 2028 competitions, which were conducted as part of the development of the Council’s community strategic plan – ‘Ryde Vision 2028’.

The entrants were asked to show what they wanted the City of Ryde to look like in 2028 through a video and drawing.

The winner of the youth video competition, which was open to local residents aged 25 and under, was 16-year-old Eastwood resident Anthony Lai, who produced a 30-second clip of his vision for the City of Ryde which included a diverse community with access to affordable housing and recreational facilities.

The highly commended award in the video competition was awarded to Archie Seeto, 7, from North Ryde.

The winner of the drawing competition, which was open to students attending primary schools within the City of Ryde, was Lewis Mills, 8, from Gladesville Public School.

The kindergarten to year 2 runner-up was Sophie Kim and the year 3 to 6 runner-up was Emily Chan. Both students attend Denistone East Public School.

Announcing the winners at Council’s meeting on Tuesday 27 February, City of Ryde Mayor, Cllr Jerome Laxale, thanked everyone who entered the competition.

“It is essential that we involve the youth in developing the future vision for the City of Ryde as it will be the youth who be an integral part in realising this vision,” Cllr Laxale said.

“We would like to thank all entrants for their great visions that were submitted.”

Ryde Vision 2028 is the City of Ryde’s long term strategy that identifies the community’s main aspirations and objectives for the next decade. The strategic plan is currently being drafted and will be open for community comment in May this year.
