RYDE'S ITALIAN MIGRANTS

It was my pleasure last week to attend a special presentation to Ryde Library of Angelina Bonifacio's meticulously researched anthology about the fascinating history of our Italian migrant community and its significant contributions to the City of Ryde.

The book, titled A One-Way Ticket – Italian Migrants in the City of Ryde 1860-1960, was a three-year labour of love for Angelina.

The first print run of 1,000 copies has already all-but sold out, proving the strength of interest in Ryde's Italian history.

Council was proud to help fund this important and meaningful project. It's a terrific and insightful read, so if you can find a copy, you'll be well rewarded.

BEING NEIGHBOURLY

City of Ryde residents are renowned as a friendly, welcoming community, and we have a great event on Saturday 17 June to help celebrate Neighbour Day and have some fun.

Meet Your Neighbours runs from 10.00am - 2.00pm at Lachlan's Line Park, where you will get to know your local emergency services, enjoy a free cup of coffee, a sausage sizzle, live music, and participate in face painting for kids.

At 10.30am, children will also have a chance to meet fascinating native

Australian animals with a session from the Taronga Zoo Mobile. So, get along and be neighbourly!

MEN'S HEALTH WEEK

Ryde Library is helping to celebrate Men's Health Week with a conversation between Western Sydney University Academic Dr Neil Hall and MD Dr Kieran Kennedy about Dr Kennedy's new book The Manual, which explores what it means to be a man in the 2020s.

The book, co-written with journalist Scott Henderson, is a practical holistic guide to life, health, and happiness for the modern man.

The event takes place on Thursday 15 June from 7.00 - 8.30pm and attendees on the night have a chance to win a signed copy.

For details and to register visit:
